2 INTRODUCTION

2.1 Objectives of the Manual

The objectives of this Manual are to:

- Set out and communicate the policies formulated to assist the Human Resources (HR) Department in carrying out their responsibilities. Along with the outline of basic rules and regulations that bind Employees as part of their employment. Serve as an operating guide for the HR Department and line managers to manage Employee affairs fairly and consistently.
- Emphasize the role and authority of the HR Department and responsibilities of the line managers in developing, managing and coordinating Employees towards an effective and efficient performance in service delivery.
- Act as a reference document for DPG, Senior Management and other Managers at Ejadah Asset Management and its Entities to define the parameters within which a decision shall be made. This will guarantee that any decision is in line with overall organizational objectives, strategy, business plans and goals of Ejadah and its HR Department.

2.1.1 Administration of the Manual

2.1.2 Operating Standards

- While this Manual is a high level operational guide to assist the day to day administration of Ejadah's HR processes, it should be read in conjunction with other official documents at Ejadah (e.g. DoA, Confidentiality and Non-Disclosure Agreements).
- All Ejadah, entities and Corporate functions shall follow the operating standards that stem from the HR policies mentioned herein and shall be measured against conformance to these standards.
- It is expected that for key policy areas, detailed procedures shall be outlined to depict the action steps required to complete the various tasks of the HR Department and more importantly to govern, mandate or constrain unwanted actions.

2.1.3 Coverage of the Manual :

The provisions of this Manual shall apply to all full time permanent Employees at Ejadah and its Entities. Outsourced Employees, contractors & consultants do not fall under the purview of this Manual.

2.1.4 Custodian of the Manual

The Head of DPG HR shall be the custodian of this Manual and responsible for ensuring the Manual is circulated, read and adhered to by appropriate stakeholders. As the custodian, the Head of HR shall be responsible for appropriately addressing any queries or concerns with regards to the contents of this Manual. Compliance with the policies included in this Manual shall be monitored through internal controls.

2.1.5 Confidentiality

The contents of this Manual are deemed confidential and intended for internal use only. Under no circumstances shall the contents of this Manual be revealed to any unauthorized individuals or third parties without the express written permission of the Head of HR.

2.1.6 Review and updates

- Revision of this Manual shall be the principal way of ensuring that it remains relevant at all times and addresses the evolving needs and business requirements of Ejadah.
- Request for revision of this Manual can originate from within the HR Department or any other relevant stakeholder who has access to the Manual and seeks to introduce updates to this Manual. The request for any such revision along with the corresponding business reason for the updates shall be brought forth in written format to the Head of DPG HR.

- The first issue of this Manual and all subsequent amendments which involve financial and/or procedural implications would be subject to proper approval as per the relevant DOA.

2.2 Controlling law

- The controlling law for all HR policies and processes of Ejadah is Federal Law No. 8 of 1980, as amended (UAE Labour Law). In the event of any conflict which may arise between this manual and the provisions of the UAE Labour Law and Ministerial decisions executing it, shall prevail except for the provisions which are more advantageous to the Employee.
- Any of the Entities' offices in other countries that adapt this Manual shall customize the relevant Sections and policy areas in order to be aligned with the concerned country's labour law.

3. STAGE 1: PRE EMPLOYMENT

3.1 Recruitment Pre-requisites

Ejadah adopts strategic methods to ensure the company has the right people with the right competencies at the right time to achieve its vision. This is a guide to defining a manpower plan as part of the annual business planning cycle and implementing a job evaluation process that assists in the assessment of various jobs to ensure internal consistency and fairness across the company.

3.1.1 Manpower Planning

- Manpower planning is integrated with the annual business planning cycle.
- The Manpower Plan will detail the position, grade and number of staff required to deliver business objectives. (M)
- The Manpower Plan will be the central document that drives the Recruitment Process and feeds into the talent and learning and development process. (M)
- The Company may plan for Temporary, or Limited contract positions to promote flexibility in responding to business requirements, enable an employee to balance work and personal commitments, or support job sharing opportunities.
- Manpower planning process shall be managed by Ejadah HR for corporate functions and entities along with Function Heads.
- Approved manpower plan shall be the basis for managing recruitment, promotions (subject to performance appraisals), learning and development plans.
- Manpower plan shall be reviewed on a quarterly basis by Ejadah HR.
- Any deviation from approved manpower plan shall be approved as per the HR DOA.

3.1.2 Job Description and Evaluation

- Job Descriptions are developed and maintained for all positions based on approved the manpower plan. Job Descriptions should include both job responsibilities and person specifications to effectively inform employees of their key roles, responsibilities and competencies required to successfully perform the job. (M)
- The Company will ensure that all employees are aware of their roles, responsibilities and skills required to successfully perform the job. (M)
- The Company will determine the criteria for Job Evaluation and ensure it is consistently used to classify all jobs as per the actual duties. The classification will be used to determine the organization hierarchy and relative value of positions for appropriate compensation. This enables the Company to meet the goal of inter-departmental comparability. (M)

3.2 Recruitment

The purpose of this policy is to practice recruitment in such a way that the Company be an equal opportunity employer and to provide guidelines for efficient, consistent, and competitive hiring and selection that promotes an effective recruitment process in the Company. All recruitment activities in the Company will be focused on selecting the best qualified and best fit candidates.

3.2.1 Recruitment Principles:

- The Company will ensure that an equal opportunity approach is maintained for all employees whilst upholding the highest standards as per the UAE labour law and national development initiatives.(M)
- The Company will make every effort to ensure qualified UAE Nationals are sourced for all vacancies.(M)

- Recruitment process will ensure objective selection of candidates for a position and may include assessments, selection tests, interview, reference, security and other background checks. (M)
- All recruitment initiatives in the Company will be aligned to an approved organization structure or client contract, job description and outcome of job evaluation. (M)
- Prior to initiating the recruitment process, the Company will ensure positions are budgeted, approved and in line with the workforce plan. (M)
- All vacancies should be advertised either internally or externally as per recruitment plan.
- The job adverts should not in any form, contain aspects that indicate predisposition to employ specific genders, race, age group or nationality, unless in support of national development.(M)
- Where a recruitment agency is used, the Company should ensure it is reputable.
- The Recruitment team will remain the sole authority to place any job vacancy adverts, internally or externally on websites and/or portals, announcing employment opportunities.

3.2.2 Assessment, Interview & Selection

- All candidates for a vacant position must go through a defined recruitment and selection process. (M)
- Interviews will be conducted by a Panel including Line Manager or a relevant member of the department, a representative from Recruitment team or HR, and if found appropriate, an employee from the Company, who will add value to the interview decision to enable fair chances for all candidates.
- All candidates will be required to provide personal and professional details at the time of application and verify that the information on the application and CV is accurate. These may include name, date of birth, nationality, etc. Any misrepresentation or omission may result in refusal of employment or, if employed disciplinary action potentially resulting in termination. (M)
- All candidates will be required to declare if any of their relatives are currently employed within Ejadah and its entities or Dubai Holding (DH) Verticals. (M)
- A candidate will be considered for employment (permanent, limited or temporary contract) only if the pre-requisites have been met. (M)

These may include, but are not restricted to:

- Eligibility to work in the UAE, i.e., residency visa or eligible for sponsorship.
- Meet the minimum criteria prescribed in the job description.
- Minimum age of 18 years
- Completion of required interview and selection assessments, as appropriate.
- Provision of completed resume or application form, with all required information.
- Provision of any required and authenticated certificates and documents, as proof of education and professional qualifications.
- Completion of background/reference checks and security clearance.
- Completion of any pre-employment medical checks, as appropriate
- Only the Recruitment Team is authorized to make any commitment of employment to candidates including the job offer, salary levels and description of any other benefits.(M)
- Overseas candidates may be invited to Dubai for an interview by the Company, in such cases the Company will provide flights and accommodation for the duration of their stay within the UAE.

3.2.3 Internal Transfer

The Company should encourage the internal transfer of employees to support the workforce requirements within the organization as well as within Ejadah entities. In filling vacancies within the company, priority will be given to the internal candidates.

- For all grades the Management will decide on the process of recruitment and selection as per HR DOA.
- The employees should have completed the minimum one (1) year of service in their current position to apply for a position through the Internal Vacancy.
- The internal vacancy posting will remain open for 5 working days from the date of release, no applications received after the closing date will be accepted.
- Employees on active Final Written Warnings are not eligible to apply for any Internal Vacancies related to positions in a higher grade than their current job but they can be considered for lateral transfer once the warning period is over provided the employee is rated a good performer and the warning is not related to the new job or areas of performance required for the new role.
- A manager cannot withhold the approval to transfer an employee to another department/entity; however a mutually agreed release date must be set. As a general rule, the release date is no longer than the notice period for the employee. (M)
- Internally hired employees across Ejadah, DPG and DH or its verticals will not serve a probation period within the receiving entity as employment is considered continuous service. (M).
- The transfer form will be initiated by the HR Department of current entity of the employee and will obtain the approvals, in line with the HR DOA.

3.2.4 Transfers within Ejadah, DPG and DH verticals:

- When an employee is transferred between Ejadah, DPG, DH or its verticals, Ejadah ensures that all accrued benefits are maintained based on the length of service from the original date of joining with the DH or its verticals. (M)
- When an employee is transferred between Ejadah, DPG and DH or its verticals, all on-going costs for learning and development activities in which the employee is engaged, e.g. tertiary education, which are sponsored by the original entity, are transferred with the employee and become the responsibility of the new entity. (M)
- The remaining balance of the entitled benefits such as annual air ticket (ALT) and End of Service (EOS) gratuity are transferred seamlessly to the new entity. When an employee is transferred between Ejadah, DPG and DH or its verticals, with regard to accrued annual leave, the employee shall have the option to (a) utilize the annual leave prior to the transfer to the new vertical; (b) en-cash the unutilized annual leave balance prior to the transfer to the new vertical; or (c) subject to the approval of the employee's line manager in the new vertical, transfer the accrued annual leave balance over to the new vertical. (M)
- The employee continues to accrue benefits as per the terms and conditions of the new entity.
- Eligible employees who are hired, or transferred during the plan year may be awarded a pro-rata incentive payment from both Entities, if and when the Entity(ies) declares such pay-out, earned during the plan year based on the length of service from the date of joining the new Entity. (M)
- There will be no change in the employees' guaranteed cash "Gross Salary/ Total Monthly Remuneration" when an employee moves to another area of the business, on a lateral transfer (transfer from one position to another, without change in grade). However, there could be changes in specific allowances as applicable to the positions.

- The transfer form will be initiated by the HR Department of current entity of the employee and will obtain the approvals, in line with the HR DOA.

3.2.5 Temporary Hires

- Candidates may be hired on a temporary basis for emergencies, long term absence or project based employment.
- Temporary employees will be paid a monthly cash compensation and are not eligible for any other compensation or benefits other than the terms mentioned in the Temporary employment contract.
- The hiring rate of pay for temporary employees in Grade O&S and 1-6 will be decided by the Recruitment Section and for temporary employees in Grades 7 and above will be in line with the minimum salary range of the position or with positions of comparable duties, in the specific grade the temporary offer of employment falls under.
- Temporary 'Contract of Employment' should not exceed 6 months continuously. Such 'Contract of Employment' may be terminated at the conclusion of the six (6) month period and employees may be rehired as a temporary employee (with a break in the Contract of Employment) or as a full time permanent employee.
- In the event a temporary Contract of Employment is extended beyond the 6 month term, the employee shall be entitled to sick leave and annual leave as per the law until termination of that temporary Contract of Employment.
- If there is any critical circumstances when the Temporary 'Contract of Employment' needs to be extended more than 6 months without any break in the Contract of Employment, the extension should only be up to a maximum duration of 5 months.
- Temporary employees may be given the privilege to apply for a permanent job in the Company through the Internal Vacancy procedure. This however, will require the approval from the Head of the Department and Head of HR.
- Temporary employees will be provided with a Code of Conduct and Confidentiality and Non-disclosure Undertaking document at the time of hiring and will abide by the terms contained in the same.(to be included in Code of conduct section)
- If a temporary employee is selected to a regular full time or part time position, the effective date of hire to the position will be the date of joining into the full or part time position.
- Temporary contract employees are governed by the employment contract signed off in order to determine the benefits and any other rules applicable to these category of employees.

3.2.6 Limited Contract Hires:

- Employees may be hired, on a budgeted position on a limited contract basis for emergencies, long term absence or project based employment.
- Limited contractual employees will be paid a monthly cash compensation based on the grade of the position they are performing, and are eligible for any other compensation or benefits mentioned in the Limited employment contract, UAE Labour Law and applicable regulations-e.g. Dubai Department of Protective Systems.
- Limited contract employees are governed by the employment contract signed off in order to determine the benefits and any other rules applicable to these category of employees.

3.2.7 Employment of Former Employees

- A former employee of the Company may be re-hired, based on the following:

- If the employee had a satisfactory employment record during the previous employment period and left the company in good standing.
- Successfully completes the recruitment and selection process.(M)
- After completion of six (6) month period from the date of leaving the services from the company.(M)
- There will be no priority/preference given to a former employee in the selection process.(M)
- If a former employee is rehired, he/she shall commence a new period of employment with the company.(M)
- A former employee who has received an ex-gratia payment as part of a redundancy program, cannot be rehired for a period equal to the ex-gratia payment they received from the Company, as measured in working weeks from last day of employment. However, re-hire during this period may be possible if the employee agrees to repay or offset the ex gratia payment received by the employee at the commencement of the re-employment termination is reversed by mutual agreement and no duplication of payments occurs.(M)

3.2.8 Employment of Relatives

- In circumstances where close relatives are employed within the same Ejadah entity, the Company will ensure these employees are not placed in the direct or indirect supervision of each other and there is no conflict of interest in their operations at any given point of time. A close relative is defined as a spouse, father, mother, child, brother, sister, grandchild, grandparent, uncle, aunt, niece, nephew, first cousin and the following in-laws: mother, father, sister, brother, son and daughter. (M)
- There will be no preference given to the recruitment of an employee's close relative throughout the selection process. (M)
- No employee will make recommendations or in any way participate in decisions pertaining to any matter that may directly affect the appointment, promotion, demotion, transfer or termination of a close relative. (M)

3.2.9 Reference and Security Check

- The reference check will verify the information provided by the candidate and is mandatory for employment.
- Reference checks may be verbal or written and should be conducted with the approval of the candidate. A written record of references should be maintained in the candidate's file.
- References should be checked with the last two employers of the candidate. References should be accepted only from the candidate's authorized supervisor and/or HR personnel of the previous employer. In case of graduates, references should be obtained from university supervisor, and individuals of the community.
- All employment offers and confirmation of employment are subject to receipt of satisfactory references and security checks. If references or security checks are unsatisfactory, the Company reserves the right to reject or withdraw the offer to a candidate. (M)
- In cases of overseas hires for positions classified as COS, the recruitment agencies will have to provide reference check/ certificate of good conduct from competent authorities.
- It is company policy to respond to other organizations requesting a reference on former employees, however company is not legally obliged to provide a reference.
- The HR Department will be the only authority to sign off reference responses. However, they can request the Line Management to provide inputs on the employee's performance and conduct, whilst he/she was in service with the Company.

3.2.10 Employee Referral

The company permits employees to refer CV's to HR Department to assist the recruitment process and bring forward talented employees.

3.3 Pre-Employment Requirements

This policy is a guide to developing a comprehensive set of employment terms and conditions that comply with the UAE labour law and local practices.

3.3.1 Employment Contracts

- Upon joining, the Company will provide all employees (whether permanent, temporary or Limited contract) with an 'Employment Contract' that details the terms and conditions of their employment.(M)
- The terms and conditions of employment, as stated in the Employment Contract, must comply with the UAE Labour Law. These terms and conditions should be reviewed and updated in accordance with legislative changes to ensure they remain compliant, at least with minimum employment standards. Legal advice must be sought when establishing new statements or when making significant changes to statements. (M)
- The Employment Contract will generally contain the following details, but is not limited to:-
 - Full name of employee.
 - Legal name and address of employing entity.
 - Employee's job title.
 - Place of work (if the employee may be expected to work at more than one location, this should be indicated).
 - Start and end date of employment, and start date of continuous service where applicable.
 - Duration of employment.
 - Normal working hours.
 - Salary and allowance details, including rate of pay, timing of payment (e.g. weekly, bi-weekly, monthly) and method of payment.
 - Applicable benefits, including End of Service Benefits.
 - Leave entitlement.
 - Confidentiality requirements and conflicts of interest.
 - Termination notice period for the company and employee.
 - Conditions of employment, such as security checks, medical tests, reference checks or immigration restrictions.
 - Non-competition restrictions.
 - Dispute resolution.
 - Probation period.
 - Data protection.
 - Expiry date of contract issuance if not accepted by the candidate.
- The Employment Contract shall be signed by Authorised Company personnel before being offered to a candidate.(M)
- The HR Department must ensure that a fully signed employment contract is in place before the candidate joins the company.

3.3.2 Pre-Employment Medical

- Candidates who require Company sponsorship for residency visa or Registration in the UAE National Pension Scheme will undergo a medical examination at one of the designated hospitals within the UAE on company expense. (M)
- Any employment offer and confirmation of employment are subject to receipt of satisfactory medical reports. (M)

- The Company will inform prospective employees if results are positive for certain diseases (currently HIV and Hepatitis B). Positive results will lead to rejection of employment and in all probability deportation. In case candidates prefer to have certainty of test results, they may choose to conduct this before departing for the UAE and the Company will not reimburse these costs. (M)
- If the Company requires prospective employees to undertake specific medical examinations, they will reimburse all expenses related to this. (M)

3.3.3 Employment Visa

- All employees, except for UAE National and GCC National employees, must have:
 - a) a residency and employment visa issued by the Company; or
 - b) in the case of a married employee, a residency visa through the sponsorship of the spouse; or
 - c) in the case of an unmarried employee, a residency visa through the sponsorship of a parent.
- For employees under categories (b) and (c) above, written permission (No Objection Certificate) from the sponsor will be required.
- The Company will begin the residency visa application formalities for an employee upon joining. The residency visa will be procured by the Company and will be renewed upon its expiry, provided the employee remains with the Company. (M)
- If the employee is on his/her parent's or spouse's sponsorship and wishes to continue so, the employee may inform the Company accordingly. It is the Company's right to reject such request.
- Existing employees wishing to change their visa status may request the change at the time of visa renewal.
- The Company will bear the cost of employee's residency visa and reimburse the cost of their eligible dependants (spouse and maximum of 3 children up to, but excluding, the 19th Birthday) once their visas have been obtained at standard rate. Any additional costs related to priority clearance will be borne by the employee. This will include: (M)
 - Cost of visas, provided the employee is eligible to sponsor their dependents as per Immigration regulations.
 - Fees for copies of the employee's attestations and certificates for visa processing.
 - Standard Medical examinations cost.
- The Company shall not bear the cost of any penalties or extra costs that the employee may have incurred prior to, or on joining the Company.
- The employee's eligible dependents' residence visas may be processed only after the employee has obtained his/her own visa. The Company will bear the cost but will not be responsible for the renewal process of the employee's dependents' visas.
- It becomes the responsibility of the employee to renew his/her passport on expiry and the Company will not take any responsibility in this regard. The employees should update the HR Department with the updated passport details.
- No person on a Visit Visa can officially be employed, either in a permanent, temporary and limited contractual role.
- In cases where the employment visa is being transferred from an employer within the UAE, the Company will not reimburse airfare or any other related expenses, as the employee will not be required to leave the country to obtain the new visa.

4. STAGE 2: EMPLOYMENT

4.1 Code of Conduct:

The Company will ensure that all employees are aware of and adhere to the Company's Code of Conduct (Refer to Appendix 1). New employees will be required to sign the Code of Conduct and a copy of this will be retained in their personnel file. (M).

4.2 Dress Code

- This policy provides guidelines on work place attire, grooming standards and specific dress codes required by the Company so as to promote a positive working environment and reflect the culture of the Company. Employees may be asked to wear specific uniforms for safety reasons.
- Dress, grooming, and personal hygiene standards contribute to the morale of all employees, reflect the business image and create a professional or identifiable appearance to customers and visitors.
- All employees are expected, at all times, to present a professional, clean and modest appearance and dress as appropriate to the work environment and the culture of U.A.E. This does not only apply during business hours, but also when representing the Company on Business or Training Travel, to ensure that their appearance reflects the desired image of the Company.
- Business attire must be neat, clean, and appropriate for the work being performed and for the setting in which the work is performed. Line Managers should communicate their Department's attire and appearance guidelines to employees during the orientation. Employees should refrain from wearing flashy and gaudy accessories to work.
- Thursday has been chosen as a Casual Dress day and the employee may wear smart casual clothes appropriate to an office environment unless the employee has pre-arranged client meetings/interviews, in which case the employee should be dressed in formal business attire.
- UAE National employees are expected at all times to wear their national dress including Thursdays, irrelevant of whether or not they have pre-arranged client meetings.
- Employees in front-line customer contact areas are expected to dress smartly and modestly, on all working days.
- Certain employees may be required to maintain a specific dress code /uniform and specific grooming standards due to the nature of the duty or for safety reasons. It is necessary that such employees report to work in the specific dress code /uniform at all times, whilst on duty.
- When the employee is required to wear a uniform, the uniform should be worn in its entirety and not mixed with other items of clothing.
- If the employee's work responsibilities require wearing safety equipment, boots or other items, the employee should adhere to the same.
- In cases, where the work demands wearing a uniform, the Company will provide the uniform to the employee which will be replaced every year. It is the employee's responsibility to maintain the uniform neatly and presentable at all times. The employee should not wear the uniform while off duty except when coming to or returning from work.

4.3 Police Detention

- If an employee is arrested or detained by the police, or any authorities for any reason, he/she must make arrangements to inform the Company of the circumstances of his/her arrest or detention, as soon as possible. Failure to notify the Company of his/her arrest or detention may lead to the absence being considered unauthorized absence which may ultimately lead to the termination of the employee's employment.

- Where the employee notifies the Company of his/her absence or detention, the Company may (at its discretion) permit the employee to take such absence as annual leave. If the period of arrest exceeds the annual leave balance available to the employee, the Company will suspend the employee's 'Employment Contract' without pay until the case is investigated.
- All cases of police detention will be considered by the Company at its absolute discretion on a case by case basis. The Company will determine the most appropriate cause of action based on all the circumstances including the nature of the offence and the likely length of detention. The Company may, at its absolute discretion, elect to terminate an employee's employment where, for example, the offence relates to the employee's work.
- Where an employee is released by the police/court and is found not guilty of any offence, the employee may, at the Company's absolute discretion, be permitted to resume his duties with the Company with full terms and conditions of employment contract with effect from the date of detention. However, this will be decided by the Head of the Department with the approval of HR Head on a case to case basis.
- Where an employee is found guilty of an offence, the Company reserves the right to decide if the employee should continue to be employed with the Company subject to the nature of the offence including, but not limited to, in relation to the:-
 - employee's job responsibilities.
 - reputation of the Company.
- The Line Management should communicate all instances of arrest or police detention, to the entity HR Department, as soon as the Department is informed of the same.

4.9.15 Salary Review

The Company may undertake the salary review based on company performance and budget approval for its employees annually in line with the business objectives, corporate governance to maintain internal equity and at the same time to align them with the market trends, availability of qualified/skilled employees, ability to offer non-financial incentives, cost of living inflation and Individual performance.

4.9.16 Salary review based on Market trends:

The Company will conduct salary reviews based on various factors including market surveys, availability of qualified/skilled employees, ability to offer non-financial incentives, Company performance and cost of living inflation. This review will be conducted along with the Performance based Increments.

4.9.16.1 Performance Increment:

- The Company believes in the concept of pay-for-performance and in compensating employees based on their contributions. Employees will be eligible for merit increase based on performance and exceptional contribution.
- The Company will adopt best practices to define a performance management system and process that ensures employees are aware of the expectations regarding desired performance, both in terms of objectives to be achieved and skills/competencies to be acquired. This will then be used to define a potential annual salary increment whilst taking into consideration the current salary position in the salary range. (M)
- Merit Increase will take into account the individual performance of previous year as well as the overall financial performance of the Company in line with the guidelines from the Management.

4.9.16.2 Promotion Increment:

- A promotion is a movement of an employee from one job position to another with more responsibilities, involving higher skills and competencies, and whereby the new job exists on a higher grade than the employee's current job. Promotion can occur as a result of vacancies arising in various positions due to employee separation, business expansion, upgrade of an existing job due to job evaluation, creation of new jobs etc. However all promotions will be based purely on merit and the employee fulfilling all the pre-requisites for the job.
- The Promotion policy has been developed to provide guidelines on the policy of promotion from within the Company, creating equal opportunities and criteria for promotion.

Promotion Criteria:

- Employee meets the qualification and skills people skills) required for the job.
- Years of experience – Employee should be on the same level/grade for a minimum of one (1) year to be considered for promotion.
- Performance Rating of two (2) preceding years should be "Meets Expectations (3)" or above.
- Position Availability based on budget.
- Recommendation from Line Manager and Head of Division.
- Qualifies the internal vacancy process including panel interview and assessment where applicable.
- If the identified candidate is two level below the current open vacancy, he/she will be considered for one level up with a Personal Development Plan designed to meet next level requirements.
- The Company may promote an employee if a vacancy arises or the job has been re-evaluated to a higher grade. When this occurs, if an increment is required, it will be at least 10% of the employee's current gross salary (Monthly Guaranteed Cash) or the minimum of the next salary band whichever is higher. Any increase during the promotion, exceeding 10% or the minimum of the grade, Independent Discretionary Criteria applies. The total increase however must not exceed 25% of the current gross salary (monthly guaranteed cash).
- It is recommended that the promotional increase should not bring the employee's salary beyond the midpoint maximum of the new salary band.

4.9.16.3 Independent Discretionary Increments:

- The Company may review its employees and conclude that it needs to increase salaries or allowances for critical position/s and/or employees they cannot afford to lose.
- Employees are eligible for this increment if:
 - The employee has not received a discretionary increment in the same calendar year;
 - The employee has not received an increment resulting from a promotion within the same calendar year;
 - The employee has no official disciplinary action on file as per the Discipline Policy;
 - The increase is within 25% of the gross salary (Monthly Guaranteed Cash);
 - The increase does not exceed the approved budget;
 - Total discretionary increases do not exceed 5% of the total population of the company, over 1 calendar year.

If the Company wishes to provide an increase, approval must be obtained as per DOA. All submissions for approval must include justification from the Line Manager, Head of Division, be supported by the HR and be in line with the formal Performance Appraisal of the employee. (M).

4.9.16.4 Common Principles:

- All increments must be communicated to all employees as appropriate, be within approved organization budgets and targets, and approved in line with the Company's Corporate Governance Framework and Delegation of Authority. (M)
- Individual salary increments will be in line with the salary scale applicable for the position and grade. (M)
- There will be an annual salary review cycle, which will generally be conducted in Q1 of each year and benefits review in Q3.
- Salary review will be made based on budget availability, company performance and at the sole discretion of the Management.
- The approval authority of salary increases and promotions will be as per HR DOA.
- The amount of increase will be decided by the management subject to budget and affordability.
- The employee should have completed a minimum of six (6) months with the Company, effective the date of joining and should have a probation confirmation, to qualify for any merit increments.
- If the employee has not completed a full year of service with the Company, he/she will receive a pro-rated increase depending upon the length of service.
- Any increment payment will be calculated based on the gross monthly salary of the employee (Monthly Guaranteed Cash) and will not take into account any other special allowances like car, mobile, fuel, or any other technical/job specific allowances
- Merit increments will continue for an employee until he /she reaches the maximum limit of the salary scale applicable for that grade. The salary of an employee will normally not exceed the maximum limit of the salary range of the grade in which the employee is placed.
- Employees who are promoted after 1 October -31 December in any given year will not be eligible for the performance based annual merit increment paid out for the same year.

4.9.17 Salary Payment and Administration

- The company will exercise all reasonable efforts to ensure that employees receive their monthly salaries on the scheduled pay day.

- All statutory deductions will be made from salaries before payment, including the following:
 - Authorized contributions to benefit plans.
 - Other deductions, as required by regulations of the UAE, as and when applicable
 - Tax deductions, as appropriate
- Monthly salary will be paid to all employees at the end of each calendar month. If the pay day is a holiday, the salary will be paid on the preceding working day.
- The monthly salary will be deposited in the bank account designated in writing by the employee upon joining, at a local bank or in the country of employment/operations. It is employee's responsibility to notify HR department of any bank detail changes.
- For employees joined, on or after 15th of any month, the salary will be paid to the bank in the following month's payroll with effect from the date of joining.
- Electronic pay slips are available to all employees through HR Self Service Oracle system.
- In the event that there is a perceived error in the salary payment, including over payment, the employee is obliged to promptly bring the discrepancy observed to the attention of the HR Department, for investigation and verification, so that corrective actions can be taken as quickly as possible. If the employee willfully fails to bring to the notice of HR Department, any cases of over compensation in remuneration, appropriate disciplinary actions will be taken against the employee.
- In case the Company has over compensated an employee, the Company reserves the right to deduct the entire amount from employee's next salary payment or choose to deduct the amount in two or more installments, as appropriate, so that there is limited adverse impact of such deductions on the employee.

4.10 Leave Entitlement

- The employees are entitled to different types of leave that ensure work life balance and productivity.
- Salary and benefits accruals such as medical insurance, ticket entitlement etc. continue during approved leave periods, unless specifically stated otherwise.
- A year, in the context of the policy, will mean the calendar year i.e. 1 January to 31 December of the reference year.
- The employees should apply all leaves through HR Self Service Oracle system.
- In case the employee does not resume work after the last day of the authorized leave or does not report the need to extend the leave, the employee will be considered as absent from duty, and such absence shall be without pay and employee will be liable for disciplinary action including termination of employment.
- Limited contract and temporary contract employees are eligible for leave as per the Employment of Contract. . In the event of any discrepancy between the leave entitlements set out in the Employment Contract and in this policy, the terms of the Employment Contract shall prevail.

4.11 National Service

- This policy establishes guidelines for all employees who are called for the UAE National service mandated by UAE government.
- This policy is applicable for all eligible employees on permanent, temporary and limited contracts.
- As per the Federal Law No. 06 for the year 2014, National Service is mandatory for all eligible UAE nationals holding a UAE family book and who fall within the criteria mentioned in the law.
- The employees' roles will be reserved in the Company until they complete their National Service. During the course of their National Service, National Service Employees will continue to receive their compensation and benefits, bonus, allowances, promotions and/or increments as if they were performing their role duties.

- The Company will not allow any employee whose name is announced by the National Service and Reserve Authority to travel on business trips, long training course or pursue undergraduate or postgraduate study unless the required permission is obtained from the concerned authority of the National Service.
- The Company will only consider supporting an application by an employee to postpone National Service where there is a valid and justifiable business need by the Company.
- National Service employees are personally responsible for dealing with all registration formalities, medical check-ups and coordination with the authorized authority with respect to National Service.
- Where the National Service employee is required to attend to the Military Authority for purposes such as undergoing Medicals, Registering with the Authority this time off work will be treated as leave (National Service Leave) up to 5 working days with pay and should not be deducted from the Annual Leave.
- The employee is responsible to meet the line manager to complete the Annual Performance Appraisal in case the employee has completed a minimum of nine (9) months from the Performance Management Cycle start date of a particular year.
- In the case of the company providing Incentive or/and Annual Performance Increment based on the previous year's Performance, HR shall consider a minimum rating of '3' or 'Meet Objectives' or an average rating of previous 2 years performance rating in order to calculate their incentives and increments (subject to the incentive and/or salary increments policy and guidelines in the company). This is applicable only to the employees who have not completed nine (9) months of service from the Performance Management cycle start date. The score shall accordingly be reflected in the Performance Management system.
- The Employee shall be eligible for the HR Carry forward of Annual Leave Policy. If however, the respective colleague has a balance of over the eligibility of carry forward days of the current year then the remaining days may be encashed accordingly. Line Manager will encourage employees to avail their annual leaves.
- Public holidays occurring during the periods of National Service will be credited to the employees annual leave balance, as appropriate and in line with labour laws of the country.
- The employee is allowed to combine the national service with his annual leave of minimum 15 working days upon approval of line manager.
- The employee shall provide evidence from the National Service and Reserve Authority stating his joining to the service.
- In case the National Service employee was rejected by the National Service and Authority due to any reason or has been asked to join another batch decided by the Authority, the employee is required to notify the line manager and HR immediately and resume duty as normal.
- National Service employees are accountable for the proper handover of any pending work to their Line Managers prior joining the national service.

4.12 Business and Training Travel Expense

- The Company will provide a reasonable standard of living for its employees travelling on business or for training/conferences by covering all related expenses that are proper, actual, reasonable, necessary and documented.
- This policy includes the rules and guidelines for the reimbursement of expenses incurred on business or training travel.

4.12.1 Employee Responsibility

- Employees are responsible for their own expenses and ensuring that the relevant policies are adhered to.
- Any expense report containing exceptions to policy must be indicated. It is the responsibility of the employee to highlight exceptions to the Line Manager and these exceptions are to be signed by the Line Manager with a justification.

- Employees are expected to treat company money responsibly as if it was their own and utilize company funds in the most cost-effective manner possible.
- All business travel requests must be approved in advance by the Line Manager, and training travel requests by both the Line Manager and Entity HR.
- Employees travelling abroad on business travel are entitled to claim an advance of reasonably estimated core expenses, irrespective of position and grade.

4.12.2 Air Travel & Hotel

- Air Tickets should be booked via the most direct route and confirmed upon obtaining the appropriate approvals. The entitlement for class of travel and hotel category is as follows:

Entitlement	AIR TRAVEL CLASS		HOTEL CATEGORY
	Flights below 6 hours	Flights over 6 hours
Grade 10 and above	Business Class	Business Class	4 or 5 Star
Grade 9 and below	Economy Class	Business Class	4 Star

- Air tickets and hotel will be booked by the company procurement section for the employees who will be travelling for business or training purpose. Air ticket and hotel and training invoices will be paid by company directly to the agents through whom the bookings are made.
- If the employee is required to carry any Company property on businesses, that result in excess baggage charges, this will be reimbursed to the employee.

4.12.3 Combining Personal Travel with Business/Training Travel

- Where an employee wishes to extend a business trip by including personal travel, the request must be approved prior to travel and the portion of the trip that is personal must be clearly identified to the company on the expense report.
- The employee will be responsible for any incremental airfare, hotel, car rental, meal or other costs associated with the personal portion of the trip. This includes any costs borne by the employee's spouse or other person(s) that accompany the employee on the business trip.
- Any days spent on a private extension of the business trip should be treated as part of the employee's annual leave, which should be authorized in line with the leave approval process.

4.12.4 Travelling on Public Holidays

- An employee travelling for business purposes on a Public Holiday as declared by the Company, or across weekends (i.e. Fridays and Saturdays), during his business trip or training leave, may claim a compensatory holiday in lieu thereof, by arrangement with the Department Head.
- Compensated leave days may be credited to the employee's comp off leave account, which can be utilized as per the policy.
- Employees shall not be compensated for the overtime worked on a business trip.

4.12.5 Meals & Entertainment – customers, others

- If customers or other individuals are entertained, the employee who makes the claim must itemize all entertainment expenses on an expense report. This information may include the following information:
 - Name, title, and company of the person(s) entertained
 - Business relationship and business purpose of the meeting
 - Name and title of company employees/colleagues present if any
 - Date, name, and location of the establishment

- Type of entertainment and the expense involved

Note: Costs related to Alcohol and/or Cigarettes / Cigars etc, will not be reimbursed under any circumstance.

4.12.6 Transport

- The Company may reimburse costs associated with the use of automobiles if such transport is required as part of the employee's job. These costs could include fuel, Salik and parking.
- Where a rental car is required, a family type saloon car is standard. Upgrade to a larger car may be allowed if three or more employees are travelling together. Employees may however upgrade at own expense. Employees should return the rental car with the same amount of fuel as was initially received, as a shortage may incur a refueling service charge that could greatly increase the total cost of the rental.

4.12.7 Reimbursable Expenses

- The following is an indicative list of expenses that can be claimed so long as such expenses are, at the company's sole discretion, reasonable and accompanied by valid receipts. In case of doubt, staff should consult their Line Manager or HR before the expense.

4.13 Employee Development and Performance Management

Ejadah recognize that people are key to achieving its vision and fosters a culture of continuous learning to engage them in delivering positive results.

This policy is a guide to ensure effective means to enhance and maintain the performance of employees and teams are implemented in order to optimize the organization performance and build its capabilities.

4.13.1 General Principles

- The company's learning and development strategy should encourage employees to upgrade their skills, achieve their full potential and deal with changing demands of the organization.
- The Company should ensure that all employees have an equal opportunity to access learning and development programs.
- Employees are encouraged to take responsibility for their development plans and continuously enhance their individual and professional capabilities.

4.13.2 Learning Need Identification and Plans

- The Company is encouraged to identify learning needs at appropriate levels of the organization (Organization, department / team and individual), on an annual basis using tools such as business plans, employee survey results, annual performance appraisal review results and management interviews.
- The Company will ensure that learning needs are reviewed on a regular basis to make sure they are valid and/or updated. (M)
- The company must define the competencies required for the current and long term success of the organization in terms of knowledge, skills and behaviors.

4.13.3 Execution of Learning and Development Plans

- The Company will define a process to capture employees' development needs in line with skills and competencies required for the current role as well as career aspirations. These are used to develop Individual Development Plans (IDP) that determine activities planned to meet the learning needs. (M)
- Feedback tools should be used as inputs to determine the development needs of individuals. These development tools may include 360 degree feedbacks, feedback from colleagues, assessment centers, psychometrics, and performance appraisal reviews.
- The company should ensure that employees are provided with forums to discuss their development needs and align these to their job function, objectives and career goals. These may include annual appraisal, six (6) monthly career development discussions etc.
- If an employee performing shift duty is required to attend training, the Line Manager must ensure that the employee is relieved from rostered duties accordingly to attend the training
- Line Managers should also ensure that wherever possible, the employee gets a minimum of eight (8) hours rest before or after any training that exceeds 6 hours.
- If the employee fails to report for a scheduled training, the Company has the right to take disciplinary action against him/her, unless there have been some unavoidable circumstances or justifiable reasons to substantiate the absence. In this scenario the training cost will be borne by the business or by the employees based on the result of disciplinary hearings.
- In cases where employees fail specific training courses mandatory for the employee's job role, appropriate actions will be taken by the Company.

- Employees must notify the Line Manager and the Learning and Development Section at least five (5) working days prior for an in-house Training, and 15 working days prior for third party / outstation training, if they wish to cancel their nomination.
- If employees are required to attend training, overseas or locally in U.A.E on a rostered day off/ weekly off/ public holiday, the equivalent number of days will be credited as compensatory day off- in lieu for those days.

4.13.4 Training Bond

- In cases where training expenses are borne by the Company, the Company may, entirely at its discretion, require the employee to sign a Training Bonding agreement relating to the reimbursement of the cost of training or formal education like university degree or master's degree, if the employee fails to complete the training and/or resigns from the company within a specified period after completion of the training.
- The Bonding period can extend up to a maximum of four (4) years and the amount of reimbursement varies according to the duration and investment made. (M)
- If the employee leaves the Company, after the successful completion of the training, but before the specified Bonding period, the Company reserves the right to recover the outstanding amount which will be calculated on a pro-rated declining balance, from the employee.
- Hence the funding of certain training is based on the employee committing to remain in the Company for a specified Bonding period. The Bonding period and the amount of reimbursement will vary according to the duration and cost of the training. The Bonding period, however, should not exceed 4 years.
- Refer table for details of Training Bond value:

Value in Dhs	Bond period
AED 30,000 - 50,000	1 year
AED 50,001 - 80,000	2 years
AED 80,001 and 100,000	3 years
AED 100,001 and above	4 years

- The above table is indicative only and the company reserves the right to impose whatever Training Bond period it considers appropriate.
- If the employee fails to complete the training course successfully, he may be required to refund an amount to the Company, which will be calculated based on the accumulated contribution made by the Company at that time.

4.13.5 Evaluation of Learning and Development Plans

- The Company shall define a process for the ongoing review of the effectiveness of learning and development programs and tools at an organization, departmental and individual level. For example, post course evaluations, post-course surveys, assessment on Return on Investment (ROI) for the organization.
- The information gathered as a result of evaluation shall be used to assist the organization in improving the learning and development process and maximizing the impact of learning and development on business results.

4.13.6 University Sponsorship

- The Company may at its discretion, provide UAE Nationals with University Sponsorships in order to complete higher education studies such as Bachelor, Masters or Doctorate Degrees.
- The sponsorship must be in line with the company requirements and be clearly defined in policy which should include, but not limited to, the following (M):
 - Eligibility

- Compensation and Benefits
 - Bond (refer to clause 10.13.4 regarding Training Bonds for further information)
 - Requirements of the student e.g. grades, work assignments etc.
 - Work arrangements following sponsorship completion
- The Company must ensure that a formal contract is in place for all sponsorship agreements. (M)
 - All regular, UAE National employees may request through their Line Manager, partial assistance for continuing education to upgrade their academic qualifications. The Company will support certain number of employees, as per Management discretion for their continuous education.
 - The continuous education/certifications identified should have relevance to the employee's future job requirements, should be related to Company business and from a recognized University through the higher education. Employees pursuing certifications should be identified by the Line Manager during the Performance Appraisal Process and/or Employee Development Plan.
 - Employees who meet the below criteria may, at the company's discretion, will be eligible for this sponsorship, i.e. :
 - Must have completed minimum period of one (1) year of service with Ejadah or its entities.
 - Must have performance rating of three (3) and above consistently for three (3) years
 - Must choose the program relevant to current job or which is related to their potential career path /succession plan
 - By way of indication only, The details of the maximum cost currently covered to support University Sponsorship Program are:

Employee	Grade	Bachelors/Higher Diploma	Masters/Professional Accredited Programme /Courses/PhD
All UAE National employees	All Grades	80% of the total amount, up to a maximum of AED 100,000	80% of the total amount up to a maximum AED 120,000.

- The cost covered by the company is however at the company's absolute discretion and the company reserves the right to make a lower contribution than indicated above or to refuse to contribute entirely.
- Professional accredited program /courses : Definition for certificate courses are - professional master development courses like CIPD , QS associate program , CPA , CA , CIMA , ICWA , CFA, accredited courses in property valuation and development, CISA , etc. The professional programs must be equivalent to Post–Graduate or Master or lead to professional career path or professional practices.
- Any short term certificate program may be covered in Training administration budget. (for e.g. certificate course in RERA)
- The employee will be required to provide the company with the results/ feedback, indicating the employee's performance, in the course /education program, attended.
- In cases where an employee is provided with University Sponsorship Program Support, the employee will be required to give an employee undertaking to the Company, which would specify the employee's commitment to stay in the Company services, during the period of University Sponsorship Program and after the successful completion of the course based on the above prescribed training bond value. (ref table 4.13.4 section).
- If the employee leaves the Company, after the successful completion of the Program, but before the specified Bonding period, the Company reserves the right to recover the outstanding amount which will be calculated on a pro-rated declining balance, from the employee.

- If the employee fails to complete the program successfully, the amount to be refunded to the Company, will be calculated based on the accumulated contribution made by the Company at that time.

4.13.7 Talent Management and Succession Planning

- The Company will define a process to objectively analyze the performance and potential of its workforce to identify the levels of talent. It is recommended that employees with key skills are identified and their development plans are designed to ensure enhanced performance within their current roles as well as preparation for possible future positions. (M)
- The talent management process should lead to the development of a Succession Plan to ensure that internal capabilities are developed to move into the key positions of the organization, as well as development of abilities required to meet future business growth. (M)
- The Company will define a process to identify potential successors for key positions. This may include tools such as successor & readiness charts based on Nine (9) Box Matrix, assessments etc.(M)
- The Succession Plan will be reviewed on an annual basis and aligned to the Workforce Planning and learning and development activities. (M)

4.13.8 Performance Management

- The Company will adopt best practices to define a performance management system and process that ensures employees are aware of the performance expectations, both in terms of objectives to be achieved and skills/behaviors to be acquired. (M)
- The Company's Performance Management System is aimed at measuring an employee's performance against defined objectives and competencies. Components of the system may include:
 - SMART Assessment (Setting of objectives and related Key Performance Indicators);
 - Competency Assessment; and
 - Self-Assessment
- Performance assessment is generally conducted twice in a calendar year for all employees - midyear review after six (6) months to make relevant amendments to the objectives and evaluate employee's progress; and Final appraisal - rating the employee on his performance throughout the year. (M)
- Whilst the Company provides full support in employee performance management through coaching, constructive feedback and development opportunities, the employees are encouraged to take full ownership of defining and achieving their objectives and seek guidance and coaching when needed
- A five point rating scale is generally used for measuring performance. These could be:
 - 5 – Significantly exceeds all expectations
 - 4 – Exceeds most expectations
 - 3 – Meets all expectations
 - 2 – Meets most expectations
 - 1 – Does not meet expectations
- Employees will be involved in the performance review process through setting and accepting objectives, self-assessment and discussing the performance feedback with his/her line manager. (M)
- If an employee does not agree with a specific or overall performance rating given by his/her line manager, he/she is encouraged to discuss this with his/her respective line manager. If unresolved they may raise their concern to the next tier or approach HR Department through the grievance process.
- In the case of transfer of employees between division/entities, the line manager of the departing division/entity will provide an interim performance evaluation (not necessarily a formal rating) to HR and to the acquiring department/entity to ensure continuity and fairness. (M)

- The performance appraisal and final rating will form an input into salary increments, bonus payout (if any) and training and development needs. (M)
- Details of the objectives, guidelines, policies and procedures of the Performance Management System are available in the Performance Management System Handbook available with the HR Department, accessible through the Company Intranet.
- The Line Manager should continuously provide feedback to the employee on his performance. He should use the opportunity to raise concerns and maintain critical incident report on the employee's job performance, and focus on key areas of concern.
- Final Performance Appraisal will be conducted annually, as the final stage of the Performance Cycle, i.e. generally in December.
- The employees should take the feedback positively and constructively to realize their areas of strength and development, and to make every effort to improve the overall performance.
- On completion of the final Performance Appraisal, the Performance Appraisal should be duly agreed by the employee and approved by the Line Manager and the Line Manager's Line Manager, before the closing date specified by the HR Department.

4.13.9 Acceptable level of Performance

- All Employees who are unable to meet the expected performance standards in spite of training and coaching may be placed on close supervision and monitored with personal improvement plan. The Line Manager will communicate on regular basis to the employee on the performance standards and will keep a records of his communication with the employee.
- Underperformers will be given opportunity to develop and improve their performance through e.g. job rotation, skill enhancement, on the job training, mentoring and coaching according to merit of the case. If the performance remains unsatisfactory disciplinary action will be taken against the employee and if no improvements in 3- 6 months the employee may be liable for dismissal

4.14 Employee Relations and Wellbeing

The Company is committed to maintain a positive and safe working environment that encourages productivity, equality and cooperation amongst colleagues.

This policy is a guide to effectively prevent, manage and resolve employee issues related to or affected by the workplace, hence ensuring a safe work environment; to manage internal communications and maintain harmonious relations with employee representatives such as work council and unions if applicable.

4.14.1 Harassment and discrimination

- The Company is committed to keep the workplace free of harassment and discrimination due to factors that include but are not limited to race, colour, gender, religion, descent or nationality, ethnic or social origin. (M)
- The Company will ensure a work environment that:
 - is fair and equitable;
 - is safe and supportive;
 - is free of alcohol and drugs;
 - is free of harassment and unjustified discrimination;
 - is free of smoking in areas where smoking is prohibited;
 - values individual differences and cultural diversity;
 - provides honest performance feedback and development opportunities;
 - seeks employees' co-operation in the decision-making process; and
 - discourages employees from engaging in behavior which negatively affects a positive work environment.

- Harassment and discrimination includes, but is not limited to, any unwanted, unreasonable and offensive behavior that makes people feel offended, humiliated, frightened or threatened, for example:
 - Making racist or ethnic comments
 - Unwanted physical contact such as patting, punching, hugging
 - Offensive jokes or banter
 - Offensive emails, pictures or gestures
 - Unwelcome sexual overtures or harassment (classified as any unwelcome behavior of a sexual nature);
 - Pressure for sexual favors;
 - Isolating or not cooperating with employees.
 - Behaving in a manner which is in conflict with the Company's Code of Conduct
- It is the responsibility of line managers and/or supervisors to ensure that all staff are aware of and understand this policy, act as role models, do not engage in behavior that could be interpreted as harassment and/or discrimination, show 'zero' tolerance commitment to any harassing behavior, ensure that the work environment is free from any material that could be interpreted unfavorably, and to follow the correct procedures in handling and resolving a harassment claim.
- Harassment or discrimination by an employee may lead to disciplinary action, including termination and/or legal action.

4.14.2 Grievance

- The Company will define a process to receive employee grievances and resolve them fairly and effectively within a reasonable time frame.
- Employees should be encouraged to bring any work related problems to the attention of the Company.
- An indicative list of legitimate grievances is given below:
 - Humiliation in front of colleagues by immediate supervisors or peers through the use of belittling language or shouting;
 - Physical abuse;
 - Verbal or written harassment;
 - Unwelcome comments;
 - Offensive language or gossip; and
 - False or unfairly prejudicial statements in e.g. a Performance Appraisal Report.
- An Indicative List of Grievances which may, depending on the circumstances, be considered invalid Grievances is given below:
 - Complaints against a particular work assignment or the transfer of employees, which meets the management needs of the organization;
 - Non-selection for promotions or awards;
 - Issues relating to position grade, salaries and benefits, and
 - Working hours.
- Employees on probation will have access to this procedure, other than matters involving termination and extension of the probationary period.
- A formal grievance process may include the below steps:
 - An employee may raise a grievance to his line manager if he feels he has a legitimate reason to complain or to HOD in the event the grievance relates to his line manager.
 - An employee's line manager (or another manager appointed by HR where relevant) should call an employee to a meeting, normally within five (5) working days, to discuss the formal grievance. During this meeting, the employee will be given the opportunity to state their case in detail.
 - An employee has the right to be accompanied in this meeting by a colleague, as long as this individual has no involvement in the subject of the grievance.

- Grievances should be raised to the immediate supervisor in the first instance and if the grievance is not resolved, then the grievance should be raised to HOD and still if not resolved the grievance can be raised to Entity HR within five (5) working days by setting out their grievance in writing, providing background, facts and evidence to their direct line manager (or individual at a similar level where this is not appropriate). For more details on Grievance process please refer to Grievance process on Henaar.
- Line Managers should, to their best ability, try to settle any misunderstandings/ grievances of their subordinates in an amicable manner.
- Where a grievance confirms that actions taken by another employee contravene the Company's policies and procedures, disciplinary action may be taken against that employee.
- Equally, should it be found that a grievance has been raised through malicious intent and with no substance; disciplinary action may be taken against the employee raising such a grievance.
- If the employee is not satisfied with the grievance outcome within his department then he may raise the grievance to HR against the decision of the grievance meeting held by Line Manager and HOD, they should do so within five (5) working days of written confirmation of the grievance outcome. An appeal will only be considered if, in the company's opinion, the employee appeals on valid grounds. (M)
- The outcome of the appeal to HR will be communicated to the employee following a further grievance hearing meeting with a panel. This will be conducted by HR and another individual previously not involved in the case, of equal or greater seniority to the person hearing the initial grievance. Any outcome will, wherever possible, be communicated as soon as possible thereafter and will be signed off and documented in employee personnel file. (M)

4.14.3 Disciplinary Action

- The Company will ensure employees are aware of the expected behavior that they have to maintain.
- A Disciplinary Policy will be established to ensure all employees are treated fairly and consistently while taking corrective actions on disciplinary issues. Disciplinary procedures will be administered in a manner that is intended to be corrective and not punitive. (M)
- The application of the Disciplinary policy is subject in full to specific provisions of the UAE labour law, which must be referred to before implementing any disciplinary action. The Legal department may be involved in all cases involving any disciplinary action that includes a suspension, deduction from pay or termination of appointment. (M)
- The employee must be aware of the reason(s) for a disciplinary action and his/her rights in the process. (M)
- The Company should ensure that personnel conducting a disciplinary process have the required training and are aware of relevant legislations. (M)
- The Line Manager is responsible for monitoring any alleged violation of code of conduct by the employees and initiating disciplinary process as per approved Company policy.
- The Company should define a disciplinary process, to deal with poor performance and capability issues and acts of misconduct, with escalating stages that ensures thorough and impartial investigation of facts and adequate opportunity for employees to improve behavior. If the conduct or performance has failed to improve, even after repeated warnings, or where a first instance of poor performance or conduct is sufficiently serious this may lead to dismissal. (M)
- The outcome of a disciplinary process must correlate with the severity of the action/issue at hand. The Company recognizes that there are certain types of employee actions that may be serious enough to justify either a suspension or immediate termination of employment without going through the usual progressive disciplinary steps. (M)

- The Disciplinary Process should include the following:
 - Verbal Warning - Where there is a minor breach of discipline or when the employee's conduct or performance does not meet acceptable standards, in a minor way, the Line Manager may issue a verbal warning. Such a warning will be kept on the employee's file for a period of three (3) months of satisfactory service. (M)
 - Written Warning - If the breach of discipline is of a more serious nature or if a minor offence reoccurs after the employee has been issued with a Verbal Warning which remains active in their file, the employee may be issued with a Written Warning by Line Manager(after having taken advice from the HR department). Such a warning will be kept on the employee's file for a period of six (6) months of satisfactory service. (M)
 - Final Written Warning - If the offence is serious, or there is no improvement in standards, or if a further offence of a similar kind occurs, a Final Written Warning will be given to employee jointly by the Line Manager & HR. Such a warning will be kept on the employee's file for a period of twelve (12) months of satisfactory service. (M)
- All warnings will state the nature of misconduct, the improvement required and the potential consequences of continued unsatisfactory conduct by the employee. (M)

4.14.3.1 Immediate Dismissal from Service

- Any immediate dismissal from service must adhere to Article 120 of the UAE Labour Law as stated below,

Article 120 UAE Labour Law: An employer may dismiss a worker without notice if and only if the worker:

- Assumes a false identity or nationality or submits forged certificates or documents;
- Is engaged on probation and is dismissed during or at the end of the probationary period;
- commits a fault resulting in substantial material loss to the employer, provided that the latter notifies the labour department of the incident within 48 hours of his becoming aware of its occurrence;
- disobeys instructions on the safety of work or workplace, provided that such instructions are in writing and posted at a conspicuous place and are communicated verbally to the worker, in case he is illiterate;
- defaults on his basic duties under the contract and fails to redress such default despite a written interrogation and a warning that he will be dismissed if such default is repeated;
- is finally convicted by a competent court of a crime against honour, honesty or public morals
- reveals any confidential information of his employer;
- is found in a state of drunkenness or under the influence of a narcotic drug during working hours;
- assaults the employer, the manager in charge or any of his workmates during working hours; or
- absents himself from work without a valid reason for more than 20 non-successive days in one single year, or for more than seven successive days.

4.14.3.2 Suspension

- In cases of disciplinary issues of a serious nature or issues related to safety, it may be necessary to protect the safety and security of the workplace by suspending the involved employee(s) from service, therefore isolating them from the workplace until the investigation and outcome has been concluded.
- Where suspension is required, the employee will be on full pay (base plus allowances) during the entire period of suspension. The employee however will not be able to avail any additional benefits (e.g. annual leave tickets). (M)
- If on investigation it is proven that the employee is guilty and will have to be suspended from duty until such time that disciplinary action is taken, the Company reserves the right to suspend the employee with no pay. Should the outcome of the investigation conclude that the employee is not at fault, the employee will resume their position with immediate effect on the same terms and conditions. (M)

4.14.3.3 Disciplinary Hearings

- No disciplinary action will be taken until the matter has been fully investigated (M).
- An employee will be given a written notification at least two working days prior to any formal hearing.
- At every stage employees will be informed in writing of what is alleged and will be provided the opportunity to state their case. (M)
- Disciplinary hearings must be attended by the Line Manager (or equivalent where this is not appropriate), the employee and an HR representative. (M) The employee may also be accompanied by a colleague from the Company not already involved in the case.
- The employee should be offered an interpreter if he/she is not proficient in English.
- The decision of any formal disciplinary hearing will normally be communicated to the employee within five (5) working days from the date of the hearing, unless further investigation is required. In such circumstances, the employee will be informed of expected timescales. Any disciplinary decision will be signed by HR and will remain on the employee's personnel file for the time period, as specified above. (M)
- Where an investigation and disciplinary hearing reveals that misdemeanor/misconduct has not occurred, the employee will remain in the position and grade that he/she was holding prior to the disciplinary meeting. (M)
- Any cases of dismissal must be referred to the Head of HR, the Head of Legal and the Head of Department or CEO, prior to any final decision being made. (M)
- Resignation by an employee may not prevent the continuation of the disciplinary measure.
- Dismissals should be processed as per the HR DOA.
- If the employee has been dismissed for reasons of misappropriation of funds, fraud or has been in receipt of inappropriate payments, the Company reserves the right to recover the amount from the Employee's End of Service benefit. The Company further reserves the right to withhold payment of the Employee's final salary and End of Service benefit pending completion of any legal processes that may be initiated against the employee as a result of any such misappropriation of funds, fraud or receipt of inappropriate payments. (M)

4.14.3.4 Eligibility for Promotion

- A suspended employee shall generally still be eligible for promotion if he meets the promotions policy requirements as mentioned in promotion policy, if the same shall occur during the suspension or the hearing. However, such promotion can be withheld for the period the employee is under suspension. If the suspension or the hearing results in no case i.e. the employee is innocent of the allegation, then the promotion shall be backdated with effect from the date of the entitlement.
- Employees on active Verbal/ Written Warning will not be allowed the right to promotion, increments, transfers etc until the live period is 'spent'. An employee who is on an active Final Written Warning may be denied the right to promotion if the nature of offence was job or performance related and could have an adverse effect on the performance of the job he would be promoted to.

4.14.3.5 Disciplinary Rules

All employees need to be aware of the standards of conduct expected of them. Listed below are examples of misconduct and which will always result in disciplinary action up to and including summary dismissal. The list below does not cover all instances of misconduct and is not exhaustive.

- Inadequate or unsatisfactory work performance levels.
- Use of obscene or abusive language at workplace.
- Unauthorized use or misuse of Company property or equipment, unauthorized operation of equipment, unauthorized presence on Company property.
- Disruptive behavior, disregard of safety practices, procedures, rules and regulations , minor acts of insubordination/, concealing the misconduct of others.

4.14.4 Employee Wellbeing

- The Company should effectively control the risk to employees' health and safety by ensuring the use of safe working systems, maintenance of a safe work environment, as far as is reasonable and adequate management of identified risks. (M)
- The Company will where possible ensure that all activities which in its reasonable opinion, present a risk to employee health and safety (or might be expected to do so) are assessed in advance and appropriate actions put in place. Such risks might include workplace accidents, fire hazards and occupational hazards and diseases. (M)
- The Company will ensure that the assessment includes specific criteria for women (in particular those who are pregnant). (M)
- The Company should take appropriate measures to protect employees from being threatened, abused or assaulted at work by customers or employees. (M)
- The actions taken as a result of the assessment of employee health and safety might include removal of the risk, training and guidance on safe operations, provision of protective equipment, moving the employee to another role, etc.
- Where a specific role involves known hazards to health the employee will be informed of this at the time they are offered the role. They will also be given written details of the protective actions to be taken. (M)
- The Company will display in a prominent place the instructions to prevent fire and to protect the employees against hazards as may have been identified in the assessment. (M)
- The Company will ensure the provision of First Aid Kits located within easy reach of all employees and with not less than one First Aid Kit for every 100 employees. (M)
- It is the responsibility of all employees to comply with all instructions and orders relating to health and safety in the workplace; including, for example, the use of protective equipment. Employees must report all instances where they believe a risk to health and safety exists and is not covered under existing arrangements. (M)

- It is the employees' responsibility to acquaint themselves with the Companies health and safety procedures and to ensure that they do not themselves create a risk to good health and safety in the workplace. In particular, any employee who consumes alcohols or drugs during working hours or comes to the workplace intoxicated or brings alcohol or drugs into the workplace or who allows a person under the influence of alcohol or drugs to enter the workplace will be subject to disciplinary action up to and including dismissal. They may also be subject to criminal charges. (M)
- It is the employees' responsibility to report any presence of an unauthorized individual is observed in the Company premises, employees are requested to immediately notify their LM or if necessary, direct the individual to the reception desk.
- The Company is committed to provide a safe workplace and protect all employees, service users, customers and visitors from exposure to smoke. Smoking is strictly prohibited in all enclosed premises on our work sites. The prohibition applies to anything that can be smoked including but not limited to cigarettes, pipes, cigars and electronic smoking devices. Smokers may only smoke outside in designated areas. When smoking outside, they must ensure that the smoking butts and other litter are disposed in the receptacles provided. Company vehicles used by any driver or passenger for work must also be smoke-free. Employees are required to comply with HSE policy and the building rules for smoking.(M) Failure to adhere may result in disciplinary action up to and including termination.
- If an employee misuses protective equipment or causes it to become faulty they will be subject to disciplinary action up to and including dismissal. (M)

4.14.4.1 Emergency Closing –Adverse Weather Conditions

- In extreme emergency situations such as severe weather, fire, power failure or earthquake, operations can be disturbed and these circumstances may warrant the closure of a work facility.
- When operations are officially closed due to emergency conditions or natural calamities, employees may be given paid time off scheduled work till further notification.
- Where an emergency closing is not authorized, but the employee fails to report for work due to adverse weather conditions, employees may not be paid for the period of absence.
- In such cases the employee should make every effort to notify his /her Line Manager. The employees may use their annual leave or request for unpaid leave in such situations.
- Employees may be asked to vacate an operational area, where a potential risk or danger may exist.

4.14.4.2 Safety Norms

- In order to maintain a secure work environment, the Company strictly prohibits employees and visitors from bringing any hazardous materials or equipment within Company premises.
- The Company provides information about workplace safety and health issues through regular internal communication channels such as Manager-Employee meetings, Posters, Bulletin Board postings, Memos and electronic and written communication.
- Employees are expected to read, understand and obey safety rules; and to exercise caution in all work activities.
- Employees are requested to immediately report any unsafe condition to their Line Manager. Such reports are necessary to comply with regulations and to initiate Workmen's Compensation.
- If the employee violates safety standards and causes hazardous or dangerous situations, or fails to report such situations, the Company will take appropriate actions. (for more details refer to HSE policy on Hewaar)

5. STAGE 3: POST - EMPLOYMENT

5.1 Employee Separation

The Company's employment stability is determined by the general economic situation, involuntary employee turnover, and the maintenance of acceptable performance and disciplinary standards of employees. Every employee separation will be in full compliance with the provisions of the employment terms and conditions / contracts and applicable laws of the U.A.E. The policy acts as a guide to effectively manage employee separation from the Company.

5.1.1 Ending Employment

- The employee and the employer both have the right to end the employment contract (known as "separation"). Such separation may take the form of a resignation or termination for justified reasons such as poor performance, misconduct, a redundancy, retirement or in the event of the death of an employee. (M)
- Either party should notify the other of their intent to end the employment in writing as per the notice period specified in the terms and conditions of employment. (M)
- Notice periods will be set for various grades throughout the Company and are detailed in the Employment Contract of each employee.
- The Company will treat all leavers with respect. These employees will be eligible for their monthly salary, allowances and any other grade benefits during and until the last day of their notice period with the Company. (M)
- The Company reserves the right to release a resigned employee at any time during their notice period, with the remaining period of notice being paid in lieu along with the benefits
- In cases where the last day of service is brought forward to a mutually agreed date between the employee and the Company, this may become the last day for any payment and the employee may not be required to compensate the Company for the notice period not worked, nor may the Company compensate the employee for the notice period not served.
- The Company reserves the right to release an employee any time during the contractual notice period, if the Company does not require the employee's service, provided the Company compensates the employee for the remaining period of the contractual notice period, and unless the employee is terminated for specific reasons. This will be indicated to the employee in writing.
- In cases where the employee wishes to leave the Company without serving the full notice period, and the Company does not agree, the employee may be required to pay the amount equivalent to the notice period not worked.

5.1.2 During Probation

- In case an employee resigns from the Company's service during the probationary period, a notice of a minimum seven (7) calendar days before the last day of service may apply.
- Employees who separate (either by resignation or termination) before completing the probationary period will not be entitled to encash their leave balance or air ticket allowance. (M)

5.1.3 Resignation

- An employee who wishes to end his/her employment with the company owing to various reasons must submit a resignation letter.
- The employee should submit a letter of resignation to the employee's immediate Line Manager/ Department Head, with a copy to HR for recognition of receipt.

- The notice period will be counted from the date of submission of the resignation letter.

5.1.4 Termination

5.1.4.1 Termination related to non-competence (Poor Job Performance)

Employees with poor performance ratings will be referred to a disciplinary process and may be liable to termination from service, serving a notice period as per their grade. Poor performance is defined as per the company Performance Management System. All attempts made by the Company towards the employee to enhance the performance level should be documented timely, for record purposes.

5.1.4.2 Termination related to non-renewal of contract –

- Employees on a limited contract term contract will be notified as per the terms and conditions of the contract, prior to termination. The contract is automatically renewed in case the employee does not receive any notification from the Company, on or before the contract expiry date. Individuals providing services past the termination or expiration of the fixed contract must be paid for services provided and the HR department must ensure that an appropriate contract is in place with such persons.
- Employees on limited term contract i.e. for a limited period of time, and the Company terminates the Contract of Employment prior to the fixed term mentioned in the Contract, for reasons other than disciplinary issues, the Company will provide compensatory payment to the employee, provided that the amount of compensation does not exceed the employee's gross salary/monthly guaranteed cash., for a period of three(3) months or the payment for the residual period of the initial contract whichever is shorter unless mentioned otherwise in the Contract of Employment.
- The Company and the employee may terminate an "Open Ended" i.e. Contract of Employment of unlimited duration, by giving the other notice in writing for a period as specified in the employment contract and as per the Company policy on Notice period.

5.1.4.3 Termination related to misconduct

Employees who have committed a misconduct (including absence and continuous late arrival), are liable to be terminated by a decision of the Disciplinary Committee. In such cases, the employee may be terminated on notice. The company reserves its right to terminate the employee's employment immediately and pay in lieu of notice. Any payment of benefits will be defined by the Disciplinary Committee and based on UAE Labour Law.

5.1.4.4 Termination related to Gross Misconduct

Employees who have committed a gross misconduct (as defined under Article 120 of the UAE Labour Law), are liable to be terminated by a decision of the Disciplinary Committee. In such cases, the employee may be terminated immediately (without serving or receiving a notice period) and without any end of service gratuity (statutory or enhanced company). Any payment of benefits will be defined by the Disciplinary Committee and based on UAE Labour Law.

5.1.4.5 Termination related to medical un-fitness

Employees who are proved to be medically unfit for their positions by an approved medical authority shall be terminated from service. For permanent disability resulting from an accident during employment, the company will compensate employees in accordance with the UAE Labour Law and as per the Life Insurance policy (subject to the rules of the relevant insurance provider from time to time).

5.1.4.6 Termination related to absentia

- Employees who fail to report to work for seven (7) continuous days or twenty one (20) intermittent days without notification are liable for disciplinary action including summary termination provided the Company has made reasonable efforts to contact the employee. The Company will notify the employee in writing to report to work immediately. Failure to do so may result in immediate termination.
- A Section 120 termination letter will be sent to the employee.

- In case that an expatriate employee does not respond, the Company reserves the right to blacklist the employee from the country.

5.1.4.7 Termination related to redundancy

- Employees may be laid off or declared redundant due to business or organizational requirements. In such cases, the employee will be given a notice in accordance with their grade and the Company severance policy as determined from time-to-time will apply.
- The employee may opt to leave the Company, any time during the specified notice period. In such cases the employee would be required to give written notice to the Company.
- The redundant employees will be provided reasonable, paid “time off” from work to find alternative employment, attend interviews, outside the Company. However this will require the approval of the Entity HR Head.
- The employees may be offered alternative employment subject to the availability of a suitable vacancy. Redundant employee will be given priority consideration before other candidates, if he /she is interested in alternative employment within the Company, and on condition there are suitable vacancies, the employee has the skills required for the relevant job and has passed the appropriate selection process (assessment centers, tests, interviews) for the respective vacancy. This is applicable only during the employee’s notice period.
- If the employee is selected for a new position as a result of the Selection process, within the notice period, the employee may continue to work in the Company, and will not be eligible for any compensation payment for redundancy. In such cases the employee will be given continuity of services based on his/her initial date of joining, for all benefit purposes.
- If the employee resigns from his/her new position due to any reasons, he/she will not be entitled to the redundancy package.
- If the employee is unable to obtain a suitable alternative position in the Company, within the specified notice period provided, he/she will be treated as an external candidate, with effect from the date of termination of Contract, for any future vacancies arising in the Company.
- Redundant expatriate employees may request for an extension of Company sponsorship and Residence Visa for a maximum period of three (3) months after the last day of service. However, Visa extensions will be provided subject to approval from the Entity HR department and this will be considered case by case.

5.1.4.8 Retirement

- The Retirement age of all expatriate employees and UAE National employees is 65 years or as defined by the Ministry of Labour and General Pensions & Security Authority.
- The employee’s ‘Contract of Employment’ shall unless otherwise agreed between the parties terminate automatically on the first day of the calendar month following the 65th birthday.
- An employee may be offered an extension beyond the retirement age of 65 years, at the sole discretion of the Group CEO, and in agreement with the entity CEO, subject to approvals from the Ministry of Labour, Immigration Authority and the Pension Authority, as appropriate.
- Retiring employees will be notified twelve (12) months prior their date of retirement, to ensure that the employee has time to plan and prepare for retirement.

5.1.4.9 Death

- In the event of an employee’s death while in service the Company will (subject to the rules and terms of the insurance policy of the relevant insurance provider from time to time in force) administer the Life Insurance payment. If the insurance provider refuses for any reason to pay out under the relevant insurance scheme, the company shall be under no obligation to provide any replacement benefit or pay any compensation in lieu of such benefit. The company reserves the right to discontinue, vary or amend any life insurance cover or to change the relevant insurance provider at any time at its absolute discretion.

- The final salary and End of Service Benefit of the deceased, up to and including the day of death, will also be paid.
- Payments will be made according to the Shariah Law for Muslim employees and to the nominated beneficiaries for all other employees.
- In the event of a death of an expatriate employee the company will bear the following costs:
 - Repatriation of the deceased to the home country and repatriation of all family members who were under the sponsorship of the deceased employee
 - Repatriating all the personal effects of the deceased and those under his/her sponsorship.
 - A return ticket to Dubai for one family member, relative or a friend
- Any employee may be requested to accompany the body of the deceased to the home country if no family members are available. He/she will be granted five (5) working days paid leave.

5.2 Notice Period

- The contractual notice period, relevant to specific grades is set and specified in the 'Contract of Employment' of each employee. The contractual notice period for specific grades is mentioned in the table below. In the event of any dispute between the notice period in the contract of employment and the notice period set out below, the notice period in the contract of employment (as amended) will prevail:

Grade	Contractual Notice Period
O/S/ On Call	1 month
1 – 8	1 month
9-11	2 months
12 & above	3 months
Employees during probationary period	7 Calendar days

- The employee is eligible for his monthly salary, allowances and any other benefits during the notice period and until the last day of service with the Company.
- Limited and temporary contact employees notice period is as per the Employment Contract.
- The Company may waive-off the notice period and related payment in-lieu if mutually agreed with an employee, especially in cases where the employee is unable to serve the notice period which includes, but is not limited, to reasons related to medical conditions or unavoidable domestic circumstances. Waiver of notice period will require approval, in writing, as per HR DOA.

5.3 Exit Interviews

- It is the responsibility of the immediate manager to ensure a complete handover is undertaken for the smooth continuity of operations, while the employee is serving the notice period with the Company. This includes knowledge capture and retention procedures. (M)
- The Human Resource department will make every effort to conduct a formal Exit Interview with the employee to understand and analyze the underlying reasons for leaving and take appropriate measures to deal with concerns/issues, as deemed appropriate. (M)
- The Company should maintain the confidentiality of any information collected during an Exit Interview and should ask for the separating employee's permission if they feel such information should be shared more widely.

- The Line Manager is also responsible to complete the performance review with a formal rating of the employee for the period that the employee has been in service for the specific financial year.
- The employee will ensure all company property is handed over to the immediate manager/HR on the last day of service.
- Separating employees will be required to reconfirm the confidentiality of company information and trade secrets agreement. (M)
- The employee will be provided with a Service Letter indicating his/her service period with the Company.

5.4 End of Service Benefits (EOSB)

- All Employees must successfully complete all exit formalities, including cancellation of the employee's and sponsored dependent's visas and internal security clearance, to receive their EOSB payment. (M)
- If the Company has made a commitment to the bank regarding notification of final settlement, the company will notify the bank that the employee's service with the organization has ended and this is their final settlement. (M) If this commitment does not exist then the default payment may be by cheque or to the employee's bank account.
- Any money owed by the employee to the Company (including any advance payments) will be recovered from the EOSB as appropriate, before the final settlement is made. Where the amount owed to the Company exceeds the final settlement due, the employee is required to pay the outstanding amount where applicable and will not be released from the Company's sponsorship until all financial matters are settled. (M)
- Upon termination of employment, any advance payment made to the employee, with respect to salary or benefits provided by the Company (i.e. Children Education Support Allowance, Car Allowance, and Housing Advance etc.) will be pro-rated from the last date of employment and recovered from the employee at the time of final settlement of dues.
- The Company will also recover the cost of any Company property lost, damaged or not returned by the employee, at the time of leaving the Company. (M)
- The Company may decide to hold on the employee's last month notice period salary for any potential recoverable dues and the same will be paid along with the final settlement payment, as appropriate.

5.4.1 End of Service Gratuity/ Pension

- UAE National employees who hold a 'Kholaset El Qaid' (Family Book) will receive their benefits in accordance with Federal Law 7 of 1999 (The General Pension and Social Security Authority Law as amended). (M)
- UAE national employees who hold a 'Kholaset El Qaid' (Family Book) whose salaries are above the maximum contribution salary as defined from time to time under Federal Law 7 of 1999 (The General Pension and Social Security Authority Law as amended) shall be eligible for the additional entitlements set out in Article 8 of that law. (M)
- Eligible GCC nationals will receive contributions into their state pension scheme in accordance with the reciprocal pension arrangements in place between the GCC and the UAE.
- UAE national employees who do not hold a 'Kholaset El Qaid' (Family Book) shall be treated in the same way as expatriate employees as referred to below.
- All regular full time employees who resign from the company after a minimum of 1 year of service in the UAE are entitled to receive an End of Service Gratuity for the period served in the UAE. (M)

- Employees commencing their employment with the Company on or after 1st April 2018 shall be entitled to receive an End of Service Gratuity equivalent to that set out in Articles 132 to 139 inclusive (Chapter VII Section II) of the UAE Labour Law, which for the purposes of their employment contract shall be a scheme for the purposes of Article 140 of the UAE Labour Law, and as follows:

Less than 1 year	Nil
At least 1 year but less than 5 years	21 days per year
5 years and above	First 5 years: 21 days and each additional year: 30 days

c) No Gratuity whatsoever will be payable in the event of the Employee's termination:

- I. For any reason specified in Article 120 of the UAE Labour Law or if the Employee resigns in order to avoid being dismissed under Article 120 of the UAE Labour Law; or
- II. Due to the Employee leaving the Company of his/her own accord and failing to serve any contractual period of notice as requested by the Company.

d) Employees who commenced their employment with the Company prior to 1st April 2018 shall have their entitlement to any previous scheme operated by the Company (for the purposes of Article 140 of the UAE Labour Law) frozen as at 31st March 2018 and for their employment from 1st April 2018 onwards, their entitlement shall be End of Service Gratuity equivalent to that set out in Articles 132 to 139 inclusive (Chapter VII Section II) of the UAE Labour Law. As above, this shall, for the purposes of their employment contract be a scheme for the purposes of Article 140 of the UAE Labour Law.

e) For the avoidance of doubt, Employees will not receive double payments of gratuity – the calculation of gratuity shall be as per the example below:

Employee has 4 years of service as at 31st March 2018. Employee's employment terminates on 31st March 2020 when the Employee has 6 years of service:

Years of service	Gratuity calculation
Years 1 - 4 inclusive	Calculated as per previous DP Enhanced scheme.
Year 5 and Year 6 only	Calculated as per Article 132 of the UAE Labour Law – 21 days paid for Year 5 only and 30 days paid for Year 6 only.

- UAE National Employees, as defined in Article 3 of End of Service Gratuity Scheme Policy of Ejadah Human Resources Policy, who resigns or being Terminated or their positions made redundant may receive an End of Service Gratuity in accordance with the approved Ejadah End of Service Scheme effective from the date of joining.

- The Gratuity is calculated based on the basic salary element of the final gross salary (monthly guaranteed cash) on separation and relates to calendar days. E.g.: Payment Entitlement = Monthly Basic Salary * 12/365 *Qualifying Service Years *Gratuity days

5.5 Visa Cancellation (for expatriate employees)

- The company will either cancel the visa sponsorship of a separated employee (and all those under/his/her sponsorship) or transfer it to a new employer (if allowed) within UAE. All exit formalities must be completed prior to visa cancellation.
- On cancelation of sponsorship the Company will bear the cost of the employee's repatriation ticket to the point as mentioned on the "Contract of Employment" and the eligibility will remain the same as the entitlement for the grade. If the employee transfers the employment visa to take up an alternative employment within UAE, the Company will not bear the repatriation ticket cost of the employee.
- The employee must submit the passport of self and dependents within 10 days from official request from HR for visa cancellation. If the passport is not submitted within 10 days, or if the employee does not notify the Company of an acceptable reason for non-submission, the Company reserves the right to report the employee as absconding to the Dubai Immigration authorities. (M)
- Where an employee is dismissed for gross misconduct, the Company reserves the right to request the immigration authorities to place a ban on future employment in the UAE. (M)
- The Company may grant extension of Company sponsorship, after the last day of service, for exceptional employee requests, subject to approval from Entity HR Head. In such cases, the employee will not be entitled to any Company provided benefits including salary, insurances, and allowances etc. during this period and will receive the EOSB only on cancellation of the visa.
- The employee will not be permitted to commence employment with any other employer whilst under the sponsorship of the Company.

5.6 Return of Company items

- All Company property that has been assigned to the employee for business purposes, i.e. keys, tools, uniforms, manuals, company laptop, ID card, business cards, etc should be accounted for and returned to the Company at the time of leaving.
- The HR Department will provide the employee, a checklist with the details of various Company properties to be returned. The employee should get the Clearance Check List acknowledged by the concerned person on return of each item.
- The employee is also responsible for an appropriate and satisfactory handover to his/her Line Manager prior to leaving the Company. The Company reserves the right to suspend the release date and the final settlement payment subject to the satisfactory completion of the exit formalities.

5.7 References

- As a standard, the Company will provide employees with service certificates when required. The Company will not provide any reference on general performance. (M)
- Managers can provide personal references for employees, however this must not be provided on a Company letter head and must clearly be stated to represent the opinion of the manager rather than the company. (M)

6. Appendix 1 : Code Of Conduct

The Code of Conduct is designed to set out the minimum standards of ethical conduct that Ejadah requires of its employees across Ejadah and its entities. The Code of Conduct applies to all management and staff, regardless of title or position, at Ejadah and its entities. This policy serves as a road map to help guide actions and behaviors while working at PDG. It spells out fundamental ethical principles and highlights resources available to help management and employees understand and uphold those principles.

6.1 Our Commitments

We are committed to our people

Our key commitments in regards to our people are:

Respect and dignity – Ejadah is committed to treating everyone with respect and dignity, valuing individual and cultural differences and recognizing the rights of all of its people.

Privacy – Ejadah aims to protect the privacy of all of its people. It limits access to personal information not only for our people but also of our customers, clients, investors and other stakeholders to authorized individuals with a valid business or legal need.

Safe work environment, free from harassment – Ejadah is committed to ensuring that our people work in a safe work environment. The Company will not tolerate any form of harassment and discrimination of its people; any allegations of such will be investigated and may result in disciplinary proceedings. Ejadah is committed to ensuring the health, safety and wellbeing of its people and visitors. (Refer to Employee Well Being Policy)

Promotion on ability – Ejadah is committed to promoting employees based on their performance and their record in meeting our high standards.

We are committed to our community

Our key commitments in regards to our community are:

Care in the use of assets – Employees ensure that confidential information is safeguarded and respect the property rights of others by not acquiring or using their property inappropriately.

Brand and reputation – Employees must avoid any actions which would discredit the Company and in all cases avoid being involved in activities that could or may result in a conflict of interest.

Providing services honestly and competing fairly – Ejadah promotes its businesses legally and honestly and is committed to standards of fair competition.

Creating stronger communities – Ejadah encourages its people to participate in voluntary public and community activities and demonstrates its commitment to the community through financial donations.

We are committed to protecting the environment

Our key commitment in regards to our environment is that we are, and are seen to be a responsible corporate citizen.

We are committed to the highest standards

Our key commitments in regards to excellence are:

Professional development – employees are expected to keep up to date with the latest standards, technologies and developments in their field of employment.

Acting lawfully and ethically – Ejadah complies with all relevant laws, regulations and professional standards. Employees should inform the Internal Audit and/or HR Department if they believe that others have broken the law or regulations. Ejadah employees do not offer or take bribes or other incentive payments.

Transparent business dealings – Ejadah employees must uphold the highest possible standards. This has implications when dealing with our stakeholders and other third parties. These include:

- Gifts and entertainment: Employees should not receive or give gifts unless they are within the authorized limits set out in their respective operating businesses' policies and the gift declared as required. Where an operating business does not prescribe a limit, then the employee should seek management approval, in writing for the receipt or provision of a gift or entertainment with a value exceeding AED 500. If the employee receives any gifts with perceived value above AED 500 the same should be handed over to the Procurement Department. (Refer Gift Policy)
- Conflicts of interest: All employees must avoid having a conflict of interest. A conflict of interest can occur when an individual is involved in an activity and/or an act outside the organization which conflicts with his/her interests in the company. An example would be an Ejadah DPG employee who is involved in awarding a contract to an external company in which the employee (or family member) is a stakeholder. The main guiding principles for potential conflicts of interest include:
 - Declare any matter that may result in a conflict of interest to the HR.
 - Avoid involvements in or influencing decisions that could result in a personal and/or financial benefit.
 - Avoid involvement in a decision where you may have an actual or perceived conflict of interest.
 - Disclosing any opportunity for a business that may be conducted between Ejadah or its entities and a relative, or a business in which a relative is associated in any significant role.

“Relative” includes spouse, siblings, children, parents, grandparents, grandchildren, aunts, uncles, nieces, nephews, cousins, step-relationships and in-laws.

If a potential conflict could occur you may only be involved in the activity once you have received an initial confirmation from your line manager and another written approval from HR to proceed. Any approval should also be filed with the Company's HR.

- Non-Disclosure of Confidential Information: Employees may come into possession of material non-public information. Examples include but are not limited to details about investments held by Ejadah or its operating businesses, the timing or price of property, the profitability of performance of a third parties operations. Employees are neither authorized to release any such information nor use the information for any gain, personal or otherwise, unless specific written approval has been provided by the Entity CEO. “Confidential Information” shall mean and include any and all tangible expression of information including all written or oral disclosures made by the Company , or parent, subsidiary, group or customer of the Company or otherwise received by the employee in the course of his/her employment with the Company, and shall specifically include, without limitation, pricing, methods, processes, financial data, technical data, lists, products, trade secrets, know-how, photographs, plans, notes, renderings, journals, notebooks, computer programs, computer readable video, audio or sound files, and samples relating thereto as well as any confidential or proprietary information owned by any other person or entity and furnished by such person or entity pursuant to an undertaking to maintain the same in confidence.

6.2 Individual Responsibilities

Employees

Each Ejadah employee is personally responsible for following this Code of Conduct and the legal, professional, and ethical standards that apply to his or her job function and level of responsibility. You help fulfil your responsibility to act with integrity when you:

- Stay Informed. Each employee is expected to be familiar with applicable laws, professional standards, and Ejadah Policies and local policies that apply to his or her specific job function and level of responsibility. This includes participating in appropriate training sessions, taking the time to read communications, seeking further information through HR Department, and consulting with others when necessary.
- Stand Firm. No matter how strong the pressure from internal or external sources to perform and meet goals, employees should never compromise Ejadah values or standards to meet those goals.
- Take Ownership. Ejadah reputation for integrity can be damaged by anyone. This means that all staff should incorporate the principles of the Code of Conduct into their daily activities and act with care and diligence. Adherence is endorsed and monitored by management.
- Surface the Issues. Speak up if something does not seem right. Direct your concerns to the appropriate channel either to:
 - Line Manager and then inform HR or Internal Audit, or
 - Shield Line
- Consult with Others. There are numerous resources to answer questions in relation to policies and ethical issues.
- Political Activity: it is not permitted to undertake any unauthorized political activity that contradict with United Arab Emirates laws and regulations while being employed by the Company.
- Confidentiality of Ejadah information: Employees are not allowed to disclose any information concerning Ejadah, its customers, suppliers etc. to an outside party (unless such information is already in the public domain).
- Anti-Corruption Policy: Ejadah's reputation for honesty, integrity and fair dealing is an invaluable component of our financial success and of the personal satisfaction of our employees. Our employees are expected to comply with the applicable laws in all countries to which they travel, in which they operate and where we otherwise do business, including laws prohibiting bribery and corruption.
- Prohibition of Bribery: Our employees are strictly prohibited from paying or offering bribes (kickbacks) in any form. This includes any corrupt offer, payment promise to pay, or authorization to pay any money, gift, or anything of value to any person in consideration of, or in contemplation of, doing business.
- Conduct in Money Matters: The receipt and custody of official money is restricted to those who need to do so in the course of their official duties. Any money accepted on behalf of the Company must be accounted for, immediately and in accordance with formal instructions. Misuse of Company funds will lead to disciplinary action including termination of service. Employees must not engage in any business of conducting money lending within the Company premises.
- Charitable Contributions: Ejadah believes that charitable contributions and donations are an integral part of its corporate social responsibility. Charitable contributions and donations shall be made without demand or expectation of business return. Ejadah will not be responsible for charity activities of any form, directly or indirectly carried out by Employees but not initiated by itself.

- Company Spokespersons: All inquiries or calls from the press and financial analysts should be referred to the Communications Department. Ejadah has designated its Chief Executive Officers and selected personnel from Marketing Department as official Company spokespersons.
- Computer and Other Equipment: We strive to furnish employees with the equipment necessary to perform their duties efficiently and effectively. Employees Grade 8 and above will be provided with Company Laptop in order cater to flexibility in working. Employees in grade 7 and below may also be provided with Company Laptop if their job demands subject to approval by Head of Department and Entity HR Head, for such cases request should be forwarded by employees Line Manager with a business case justifying the requirement. If the laptop is lost or damaged by negligence of the employee the Company will recover the depreciated cost for loss or repair cost for damage from the employee. The company will replace the laptop when appropriate due to tear and wear, and this will be no less than 3 year period depending on the conditions of the laptop. You must use the equipment responsibly and use it only for business purposes.
- Software: All software used by employees to conduct Ejadah business must be appropriately licensed. Never make or use illegal or unauthorized copies of any software since doing so may constitute copyright infringement and may expose you and Ejadah to potential civil and criminal liability
- Manner & Use of Company Assets: Ejadah may monitor and record your use of company equipment, company telecommunications services and company provided facilities such as letter heads, office supplies, stamps, photocopier etc. at any time. Accordingly, you accept that there is no general right to privacy even on personal mails routed through Ejadah's IT systems and networks. Employees must be aware of and comply with password controls, non-sharing of password information and periodic password changes to prevent unauthorized access as per the guidelines prescribed under the Information Security Policy.
- Electronic Communication & Social Media Usage: Employees must utilize Ejadah electronic communication devices in a legal, ethical, and appropriate manner. Posting or discussing information concerning Ejadah's services or business on the Internet should be according to Ejadah social media policy. Employees may be allowed to use electronic communication devices for reasonable personal purposes at reasonable usage. Employee should not be involved in sending out chain emails, abusive or obscene messages or non-business related communication. Employees must follow the email signature format as per branding guidelines.
- Maintaining and Managing Records: Employees are responsible to comply with Ejadah's business and legal requirements in managing records, including all recorded information regardless of the medium or its characteristics. Records include paper documents, CDs, computer hard disks, email, floppy disks, USB's, microfiche, microfilm, customer data or files of any form and all other media.
- Substance Abuse – Alcohol and Drugs: The unlawful distribution, dispensation, possession, or use of alcohol or controlled substances, including illicit drugs, which is illegal according to UAE laws, is prohibited in the Company premises at any time and in the Company provided accommodation. Employees should not report to work or engage in any official work, while under the influence of alcohol or illegal drugs. Non adherence to this policy will lead to serious disciplinary action, including immediate termination.

6.3 Management

It is of particular importance that in addition to complying with the above that those with management responsibilities lead by example and act with integrity, making ethical behaviour a cornerstone of conduct at Ejadah. If you lead or manage others, you should:

- Be a positive role model by showing what it means to act with integrity.
- Ensure that others have the knowledge, resources, and appropriate authority that they need to adhere to Ejadah's standards.
- Set clear, measurable, and challenging goals that promote ethical behaviour.
- Enforce Ejadah's standards consistently and fairly, and promote compliance with those you lead.
- Respond appropriately to those who raise questions and concerns in good faith.
- Be prepared to be held personally accountable for your own integrity shortcomings as well as those of the people you lead.
- Ensure that personal business dealings or those of immediate family members are not put ahead of the best interests of Ejadah.
- Raise any potential conflicts of interest related to specific transactions or business operations with senior management prior to entering into those transactions.
- Ensure that all work processes and procedures are in place to encourage adherence to the Code of Conduct.

6.4 Ethics Checklist

When making a decision or following a directive, ask yourself:

- Does my action comply with the spirit and letter of Ejadah's Code of Conduct and applicable law?
- Is my behaviour consistent with Ejadah's guiding principles?
- Does my decision reflect the right thing to do?
- Would I feel confident that I could explain my decision if it were made public?
- Are there any restrictions or conflicts which I should raise and which may prevent me from being involved in the decision process or transaction?

If in doubt, you should speak to your Line Manager and get guidance on the matter.

6.5 Compliance with the Code of Conduct

Those who breach the Global Code, regardless of title or position, may be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment.

The following are a non-exhaustive list of examples of conduct that may result in disciplinary action by the Company:

- Breach of Ejadah's Code of Conduct.
- Breaching any laws in the jurisdiction in which you are working or operating.
- Directing or encouraging others to breach laws.
- Failing to report known or suspected breaches of laws or Ejadah's policies or procedures.
- Interfering with or being uncooperative during an investigation.
- Retaliating against others for reporting a concern or breach.

You should also be mindful that breaches of laws or Ejadah's Code of Conduct could trigger external legal actions against you, your colleagues, and the company, its affiliates, and clients. This could include suspension/termination or revocation of professional licenses, criminal penalties or civil actions.

6.6 Intellectual Property and Confidentiality

- The Company will ensure that systems and measures to protect its intellectual property and proprietary information are in place. (M)

- During the course of employment, an employee may acquire information concerning the Company which is not publicly available, including non-public financial information and trade secrets. The Company and all its employees are responsible to ensure that such Proprietary and Confidential Information of the company are not used, communicated or shared with any person, corporation or third party or misused in any manner. (M)
